Palm Springs, CA - Chao Pinhole Gum Rejuvenation™, the minimally invasive treatment to treat receding gums with no cutting, no sutures and minimal downtime will be featured with inventor Dr. John Chao on KMIR 6 News on Monday, January 18 at 5:00 p.m. The NBC affiliate will repeat the story on the morning news Tuesday, January 19.

Chao Pinhole Gum Rejuvenation™ has been featured on hundreds of TV stations across the U.S., Canada and Europe with millions of viewers learning that they no longer need to fear having conventional gum grafting surgery to correct receding gums. To date, the treatment has been viewed by an estimated national audience of 85 million viewers through local TV news, talk shows and national TV.

Also known as the Chao Pinhole Surgical Technique® and the Lunchtime Gum Lift™, PST is changing the way doctors around the world are treating gum recession and making it easier for patients to decide to have needed treatment for receding gums.

Chao Pinhole Gum Rejuvenation™ is performed without the invasive cutting, stitches and recovery time required with conventional gum grafting. Instead, the entire procedure is done through one or more small pinholes made in the gums. Using specially designed dental instruments designed and patented by Dr. Chao doctors can guide the patient's receded gums down to achieve root coverage in a process that takes just minutes. The pinhole quickly heals and most patients report little or no pain and experience virtually no downtime.

Dr. Chao is appearing in a series of TV interviews across the country to educate the public on the symptoms, risks and treatment for gum recession. Dr. Chao also continues to train doctors at the Chao Pinhole Academy™ seminars in Alhambra, CA. To date over 1,100 doctors from around the world have attended the courses and are now offering Chao Pinhole Gum Rejuvenation™ in their practices.

The KMIR story will feature Dr. Chao describing how he was inspired to invent Chao Pinhole Gum Rejuvenation™ as an easier, less painful way to correct gum recession.
